Was Duel

OVER BLACK: The finale and the last remaining challenger's endure a game of chess versus one another.

Each player must move a piece within the specified time frame of twenty seconds before they hit the clock, or be eliminated.

The winner will receive a cheque for 10.000.000 dollars.

SUPER: FILMED IN MONOCHROME.

FADE IN:

1 INT. MIRRORED AUDITORIUM - LIT 1

A black and white chequered floor and a small square table with two chairs situated down centre where a CHESS BOARD is set for play, and a DUAL CHESS TIMER sits.

A huge SCREEN situated high on the back wall shows a COUNTDOWN CLOCK set to three minutes per each player.

Challenger MARCUS 29 from the UNITED STATES wears a white gown. He takes his seat at the table. He will play as white.

Enter HENG 26 from China. He is dressed in a black gown. He takes his seat opposite. He will play as black.

A SPOTLIGHT LIGHTS UP THE CHESS BOARD.

A twinkle in the eye of Marcus suggests his knowledge as the winner of the game.

Heng sweats profusely and becomes agitated as he realizes he cannot win. He panics and fails to move within the time frame.

He looks across the table at Marcus with a look of despair as his time elapses.

PFF!

A hole appears in the chest of Heng. He rocks back and forth, before he slumps across the blood spattered chess board, knocking the remaining pieces off their squares.

Marcus gets to his feet before a colorful ticker tape rains down upon him. He grins as he is crowned ultimate winner when he is handed a check for 10.000.000 dollars.

FADE OUT.
