In 1960s, some extra-terrestials named Ummites from Planet Ummo sent letters to various scientists and researchers. The letters state that the Ummites first visited earth in 1950 as a small group of scientist-explorers. They claimed to have landed in France. It is said that there are 1,60,000 pages of total Ummo documents which were declared as hoax in 90s by many scientists. The Ummites wrote about their daily life, housing, cooling, food, work, games, family, sex, modes of transport, their education... Their goals were the study of Earth's biosphere, atmosphere and culture. The Ummites were amazed seeing our multi-cultural society. They wanted to learn all the cultures and activities on earth.

The man has closed his collar button of the shirt. The Unibuntu also closes its collar button. Then enters Commander.
